Leipzig: F. E. Wachsmuth., c. 1910., Original Lithograph mounted on board., Schoolplaat serie Wachsmuth: Weltwirtschaft., formaat karton 96 x 70 Cm., , , , Zuid Amerika;Schoolplaten en schoolkaarten., Zie beschrijving

- Bird eye view along the panama canal With an inset picture of the location on a map. The Panama Canal (Spanish: Canal de Panamá) is an 82-kilometre (51 mi) ship canal in Panama that connects the Atlantic Ocean (via the Caribbean Sea) to the Pacific Ocean. The canal cuts across the Isthmus of Panama and is a key conduit for international maritime trade. Work on the canal, which began in 1881, was completed in 1914, making it no longer necessary for ships to sail the lengthy Cape Horn route around the southernmost tip of South America and to navigate the dangerous waters of the Strait of Magellan. One of the largest and most difficult engineering projects ever undertaken, the Panama Canal shortcut made it possible for ships to travel between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans in half the time previously required. The shorter, faster, safer route to the U.S. West Coast and to nations in and along the Pacific Ocean allowed those places to become more integrated with the world economy. Owner -

Zie beschrijving

- Originally each wall chart was issued with a paper "sleeve " below the picture. Seperate letters could be placed in this sleeve. This construction was very fragile and most of the charts have lost the sleeves. ( some remains might be visible ) –

* Because of the bright and cheerful illustrations and the small dimensions these charts are sought after by interior decorators for use in children rooms and living spaces. Although not very old these charts are rare and difficult to in in a good condition. Please have a good look at the picture and if interested please request a bigger picture.., Powered by boekned.nl
